

Army Ordered to Launch 4 Moon Rockets

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force and Army were ordered today to launch four and possibly five rockets to the "vicinity of the moon."

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy announced the program for launching "small unmanned space vehicles" shortly after the White House disclosed that President Eisenhower had given a go-ahead for the moon project.

The Air Force will make "three taking a 'close look at the moon.' The Army will fire one and possibly two moon-inspecting rockets. McElroy did not say when the efforts will be made.

$8 Million to Start — The Pentagon disclosed that the rockets will carry crude, television-like instruments which "it hopes will send to earth 'topographical information' about the moon."

The TV-like "mechanical ground scanning system" will be developed by the naval ordnance test station at China Lake, Calif.

McElroy said the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency has made an "initial allocation" of eight million dollars to start work on the moon projects.

McElroy also revealed that the Army has been assigned to launch two and possibly three more earth satellites of the Explorer type during the International Geophysical Year. The Army has fired three earth satellites. Two have gone into orbit.

ARPA Director Roy W. Johnson said that neither he nor other defense officials could "speculate on when the first successful lunar probe would be achieved."

Nor would he say what instruments the rockets will carry in addition to ground scanners.

Lists Rockets Used — McElroy revealed that the Air Force will make its lunar probes with three-stage rockets.

The first stage will be the Thor booster, a rocket engine with a thrust of about 150,000 pounds. It is used in the Thor intermediate

McCaskill Leaders Tell About Program

Rackets Probe Hearing Is Delayed

By DICK WEST
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee temporarily postponed its meeting with Walter P. Reuther today to accommodate senators who wanted to hear from AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meany's appearance before a Senate Labor subcommittee conflicted with Reuther's date with the rackets investigators so the United Auto Workers chief's appearance was put off until afternoon.

Four members of the Rackets Committee are members of the labor subcommittee.

Reuther's appearance was expected to be the climactic moment of the Rackets Committee's long and turbulent hearings into the UAW's 4-year-old strike against the Kohler Co. of Wisconsin.

Explorer III May Stay Up Six Months

By CHARLES TAYLOR
United Press Staff Correspondent

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—Explorer III, a much huskier satellite than anybody had suspected, is now expected to ride the channels of silent space for possibly six months, it was announced today by the Naval Research Laboratory.

When the new American baby moon was launched Wednesday from this missile center, it swung into an eccentric orbit that ranged from 8,000 to 20,000 miles distance from the earth. The erratic course brought gloomy predictions from the experts that it might burn itself out in a few days.

Not so, said the Navy Research Laboratory in Washington in the first detailed study of the satellite. The laboratory said the life expectancy of the nation's third satellite is four to six months.

This will give the scientists just about all the time they need to collect data from the sophisticated mechanism inside Explorer III, now being radioed back to earth in a steady stream of signals.

After making complicated calculations based on radio signals from the little moon, the Naval Research Laboratory issued what it called "the latest refined orbital elements for Explorer III." They were:

Time for completing one trip around the earth 115.7 minutes. Perigee (closest point to earth) 123 miles.

Apogee (farthest point) 17,335 miles.

Angle to Equator 33.3 degrees.

Lifetime expectancy one-third to one-half year.

State to Open Bids on 145 Vehicles

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—State Purchasing agent Mack Sturgis said Wednesday bids on 145 cars and trucks for the state highway department were opened but no awards were made.

The Highway Commission is to review the bids at its meeting April 9.

Sturgis said the bids total about $250,000. Eighteen dealers submitted bids.

Suggest a Withholding Tax in State

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A state withholding tax similar to the federal governments was suggested Wednesday by Pulaski Representative J. H. Cottrell, Jr.

Cottrell, an opponent of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' 1957 tax program, said the state's income tax law should be abolished and replaced by one easy to enforce and that would reach incomes not now taxed.

He mentioned specifically migrant construction workers who pay no state tax on the incomes they make in Arkansas. Cottrell said also that many persons living in rural areas do not pay taxes on their incomes.

He proposed that the new law base state income taxes on a percentage of federal income taxes paid by individuals. The system at the state level could be simplified, he said, by a person's filing out a form certifying the amount he paid the federal government.

Cottrell did not say if he would introduce such legislation if he is elected and serves in the 1959 General Assembly.

$3.9 Million Aid Program Under Attack

By UNITED PRESS

President Eisenhower's $3,900,000 foreign aid program was both attacked and defended before congressional committees today.

At the same time Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) announced his opposition to any anti-recession trade program with Communist countries that would help build up their war-making potential. Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev had suggested that freer trade between Russia and the United States would lead to easing of East-West tensions.

James H. Smith, director of the International Cooperation Administration, urged the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to resist cutting Eisenhower's foreign military and economic aid programs because of the business slump. He said this is precisely what the Soviet has been hoping for.

Eugene Castle of New York, in testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, renewed charges that the ICA has wasted millions of foreign aid dollars financing questionable projects abroad. The author and industrialist, appearing at his own request, said the ICA financed an underground parking garage in Belgium, a gambling casino in France, and a luxury hotel in Denmark.

Elsewhere in Congress Economic, informed quarters said Congress is almost sure to vote a cut in some excise (sales) taxes this year as an anti-recession measure. They predicted the legislators will insist on at least a reduction in auto excise taxes and probably also in levies on other "depressed" industries when they consider tax legislation later in the session.

Senate Ready on $5 Million Highway Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate pressed for passage today of a $5,500,000 highway bill by nightfall that erects a moderate barrier to billboards along the new 11,000-mile interstate road system.

Democratic backers planned to clear the bill under a procedure which, if successful, could bypass lengthy House committee consideration and send the measure to the White House by Easter.

The bill would result in a $1,800,000,000 speedup in state federal highway authorizations this year. Its job-making potential has been estimated at all the way from 60,000 to 520,000 jobs.

Meeting early and quitting close to midnight Wednesday, the Senate defeated, 47-41, an effort to strip the bill of a provision to allow the federal government to adopt, or to weaken the provision were adopted. Others were hailed as strengthening the anti-billboard feature.

Allow Small Billboards — As now written the billboard clause does not bar billboards along the new highway system but would give states cash incentives to regulate them.

States agreeing to comply with still-to-be-drafted federal standards on advertising would be given a bonus of 1 per cent over the 90 per cent of highway costs the federal government now

Faubus Would Ask U. S. for Relief Funds

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Wednesday night that he feels no hesitancy in asking the federal government for relief funds to combat the recession in Arkansas.

"The federal government takes more money out of Arkansas in income tax collections than we get from all sources," he said at a fund-raising dinner at Fuller high school near Sweet Home. "These are our funds. They come out of our pockets."

Faubus had proposed last week that the government give the state $4,000,000 in relief funds to be administered by the state welfare department to combat the recession.

The governor again defended his position in the integration crisis at Little Rock Central high school.

He mentioned a section of the United States Civil Code which he said made it unlawful except in Alaska to use military forces to enforce laws.

"The only justification for using troops at Little Rock would be for them to say it was Alaska," Faubus said. "You don't happen to hear about this here because we have no newspaper interested in presenting the other side. One goes down the middle and plays it straight, and the other plays it you know how."

Faubus said again that his position in the integration crisis was supported by non-Arkansians. He said 60 per cent of the mail to the state was from outside the south, and 95 per cent of it commended him for his stand.

A check on the Hempstead County Red Cross drive now underway shows a total of $570.75 contributed as of Tuesday, March 18.

Donations should be sent in as soon as possible to Chairman Pap Willis or Mrs. Sally Andrews, at the Star office.

$80,000 Judgment Against a Doctor

PERRYVILLE (UP)—A Perry Circuit Court jury awarded $80,000 Wednesday to a 41-year-old brickmason in a suit against a Morriston doctor.

The jury after about two hours of deliberation said Jess Eubanks of Adams was entitled to the money from Dr. J. E. Mobley.

Eubanks had asked for $125,000. He alleged the doctor was supposed to operate on him to remove a bullet from his leg but instead removed a blood clot. New York Boys Go on Robbing Spree

NEW YORK (UP)—Three boys invaded a grocery and slugged and robbed the owner Wednesday and three other hoodie-playing teen-agers stole a teachers automobile and wrecked it.

While police investigated these latest outbreaks of juvenile violence, school officials disclosed they were having serious trouble finding sites for special schools for young toughs suspended from regular classes because of delinquency or other misbehavior.

The difficulty has resulted largely from protests by residents and businessmen of areas where emergency schools were considered, officials indicated.

Dr. William A. Hamm, associate superintendent of schools, announced the first special emergency school for troublesome girls will open Friday at Board of Education headquarters in Brooklyn. Only four or five girls will attend the first classes, but 42 aged 11 to 15 will be enrolled by April 14.

The girls are among more than 700 pupils suspended from regular classes since early February in a crackdown on youthful violence in the schools, about 500 still are under suspension and 210 boys have been enrolled in two special schools.

3 Firemen Killed in Chicago

CHICAGO (UP)—Three firemen were killed and 6 others injured today when an explosion shattered a burning automobile agency and buried them under debris.

The three dead firemen were tentatively as T. Babich; Morris Krotz, 41, and Phillip Sheehan.

The five-alarm fire destroyed the one story building which was crowded with about 50 new and used cars. Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn estimated damages at $200,000.

Authorities said the dead and injured fire fighters were spraying water on the front of the building from a narrow sidewalk when a blast, apparently from gasoline in one of the cars caved in the roof.

The dead and injured were pulled from the burning wreckage by fellow firemen and rushed to Jackson Park Hospital.

Cause of the blaze, which broke out early today at the South Shore Lincoln-Mercury showroom, was not immediately determined. Firefighters said the agency, one of the city's largest, was jammed with new and used cars.

The blast occurred after firemen had been battling the flames for more than one-half hour.

Earlier, about 100 persons were routed from an adjacent apartment building. However, firemen prevented the flames from spreading.

The fire also delayed commuter traffic on the South Chicago branch of the Illinois Central Railroad which runs nearby.

Two of the injured firemen were seriously hurt. The injured were identified as Capt. Michael Scenlon, 52; Capt. William Maloney; Robert Donohue; Lawrence Furione, 27; John Thompson, 37, and Thomas Keating, 28.

Most Powerful in Russia Since the Late Stalin

By WHITMAN BASSOW
United Press Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW (UP)—The Supreme Soviet today ousted Nikolai Bulganin as premier and elected Communist Party head Nikita Khrushchev to replace him. In his dual role, Khrushchev becomes Russia's most powerful man since the death of Joseph Stalin.

Bulganin formally submitted his resignation to the first joint session of the newly elected Supreme Soviet this afternoon in accordance with the constitution. P. A. Lobanov, speaker of the Soviet of the Union (upper house of parliament), read Bulganin's resignation for him.

Then, instead of Bulganin's name being proposed for re-election as is the usual custom, Khrushchev's name was presented.

The 63-year-old Ukrainian who rose to the top of the Soviet leadership in the few short years since Stalin's death was elected by acclamation.

MOSCOW (UP)—The Supreme Soviet removed Nikolai Bulganin as premier today and nominated Communist Party leader Nikita Khrushchev to replace him.

There was no immediate vote, but nomination is usually tantamount to election.

The reshuffle will give Khrushchev greater power than ever and puts him in the strongest position of any man in the Soviet since the death of Joseph Stalin in March, 1953.

Georgi Malenkov held the post as Communist Party head and Soviet premier for eight days—from March 6 to 14, 1953—when he succeeded Stalin. But he never was as powerful as Khrushchev. Bulganin took over as premier in February, 1955, after Malenkov's removal.

The switchover disclosed at today's first joint session of the newly elected Supreme Soviet thus put into Khrushchev's hands the supreme power of both party and government at the height of Russia's drive for a summit conference with the West.

Khrushchev now probably will be the single Soviet delegate to a summit meeting. At the 1955 summit conference, which it normally was the delegate, although Khrushchev accompanied him.

The drama was enacted in the old throne room of the Kremlin palace where the two houses of the Supreme Soviet—the Soviet of Nationalities (lower house) and the Soviet of the Union (upper house)—held their first joint session late this afternoon. They held separate meetings earlier in the day.

HOT SPRINGS (UP)—Chamber of Commerce president Peter D. Joers said Wednesday a plant which will manufacture sporting goods will be built here.

Joers said the name of the company will be released later. The new plant will employ about 50 persons, he said.

The Garland County Industrial Development Corporation is to construct a $50,000 building and lease it to the company for 20 years.

'Rights' Restored to Ex-Official

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Gov. Orval Faubus restored civil and political rights Wednesday to former Gov. Francis Cherry, convicted of a prison sentence for misuse of public funds.

The board of pardons and paroles recommended the restoration of the rights.

Faubus ordered the extradition of Robert Lee Johnson of San Francisco to that city where Johnson is accused of forgery. An aide of the governor, Tommy Russell, held the extradition hearing.

Faubus Says Agencies Can't Be Reduced

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus today denied a statement by Chris Finkbeiner, announced candidate for governor, that considerable savings could be made by abolishing some state agencies.

"There are no major state agencies that have outlived their usefulness. There might be a few minor ones that could be abolished, but that would abolish a service and not mean a great deal of saving," Faubus said.

He defended the 1957 tax increases, attacked Tuesday night by Finkbeiner in a speech at Fayetteville.

The governor said he didn't believe the increases would be an issue in the campaign for the top executive post if the recession continues. Money will still be needed for welfare, the state hospital and public schools which got most of the increases, even if the recession continues, he explained.

"Certainly the ill, the old, and the semi-disabled should be taken care of," Faubus said. "And if a fine comes where some people are unemployed and can't find work, they should be taken care of too."

The governor admitted his remarks in a speech at England Tuesday night could be interpreted as "opening guns in the campaign" for governor.

"That statement might be made, and I guess I couldn't deny it," Faubus said.

The governor also challenged a statement by Chancellor Lee Ward of Paragould in which Ward said he would get rid of the National Guard at Central High school immediately.

"I can remove the troops by calling out the National Guard or state police and doing what they asked me to do before — play nursemaid to the Negroes in their homes and school. But I said before I'm not going to do that," the governor said.

City Manager at Little Rock Is Attacked

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Two men were free on $300 bond each today after City Manager Dean I. Dauley got poked in the nose.

The two men were Cecil B. Hill, owner of the Hill Amusement Co., and Harold F. Dunaway. They were charged by police with assault and battery.

Dauley said Hill hit him after complaining the city manager had sent police to his company and upset his "legitimate business establishment."

Police, armed with a search warrant, visited Hill's company shortly before the assault, but found nothing illegal.

Hill and Dunaway were at the establishment when the police arrived. They went to the city hall and talked with Police Chief Gene Smith before going to the manager's office.

Dauley was talking with Mayor Werner C. Knopp and other city officials when the men arrived at his office. Dauley stepped into his office to talk with them and closed the door to the committee room.

A few moments later, the officials heard a noise and shouting. When they went in, Dauley had a bloody nose.

Dauley said the two men accused him of instigating raids by city police on gambling places.

The police visited three other places, but found no indications of gambling.

Pulaski County sheriff's deputies, however, raided a house where they said they found scratch sheets, telephones and other evidence it was being used by bookies. They said no one was in the house at the time.

Three cars were parked in front of the house and footprints were found at the back, the sheriff's men said.

Oscars Given Out by Film Industry

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Filmland turned out in its glittering best Wednesday night to honor Alec Guinness, Joanne Woodward and "The Bridge on the River Kwai."

"Kwai," an indictment of war and a drama of the struggle between an iron-willed British colonel (Guinness) and a Japanese prison camp commander, took 7 of the 21 golden Oscars presented at the 30th annual awards of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

The prize-winning film and "Sayonara," an East-West love story set in Japan, practically made the awards a two-picture affair, winning a total of 11 Oscars.

Red Buttons, comedian turned dramatic actor in the touching love story, was selected as the best supporting actor as expected, but the choice of his "wife" in the film, Miyoshi Umeki, as best supporting actress was a surprise.

Blaise Hollywoodites who packed the 2,800-seat RKO-Pantages Theatre stood and cheered for several minutes when "Kwai" was announced as the top picture.

Guinness, who became famous in the United States as a sophisticated comedian, was the only major winner not present for the awards. In London, Guinness said the Oscar had cost him a bottle of red wine he had bet a reporter that he would not win.

"I really didn't think I'd win it," he said. "I would never have put money on myself."

Blonde Joanne Woodward, a graduate of New York's Actors Studio, expressed surprise at winning the best actress award for her role as a schizophrenic in "Three Faces of Eve."

"I could have sworn they said Deborah Kerr," said the breathless actress after she had hurried down the aisle, her skirt clutched in her right hand.

Miss Kerr was the pre-award favorite for her portrayal of a nun in "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison."

The phrase "From The Bridge on The River Kwai" recurred throughout the program, besides winning awards as the best film and for Guinness as the best actor, it also swept:

The Oscar for the best direction which went to Director David Lean, the best cinematography, best screenplay based on material from another medium, film editing and music scoring awards.

"Sayonara" scored with the "best achievement" in sound recording, Warner Brothers' and "Kwai" the sound, all The Way from the picture, "The Joker Is Wild" was selected as the top tune. It was written by Sammy Cahn and Jimmy Van Heusen.

Senate Ready

The secretary of commerce would draft the standards. In general these would allow only some small billboards, "for sale" signs and signs advertising events on adjacent property along scenic country sections of the new interstate network.

Official direction signs and signs holding features of special interest such as battlefields and scenic attractions would be permitted.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), a leading foe of the anti-billboard provision, claimed it would "legalize government reduction" by offering "a few pieces of silver" to persuade states to yield authority they don't legally possess. He and other foes argued it would invade state rights.

But Sen. Richard D. Neuberger (D-Ore.), a sponsor of the provision said the proposed incentives were "very mild — perhaps too mild."

The Senate approved an amendment by Sen. Norris Cotton (R-N.H.) to protect existing billboards on existing roads that may be brought into the new interstate system. Critics said this would nullify the anti-billboard plan. Cotton countered that his amendment would leave about 65 per cent of the 41,000-mile system subject to the new incentive plan.

The Senate rejected, 58-31, a proposal by Sen. Roman L. Hruska (R-Neb.) to prevent the secretary of commerce from imposing any limitation on the size of billboards when he sets federal standards.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate today moved toward possible passage by nightfall of a $5,500,000 highway bill which some backers claim would create more than a half-million new jobs.

Democratic supporters hoped to get the bill approved under a procedure that would avoid long House committee hearings. If they are successful, it may reach President Eisenhower by Easter.

The legislation would bring a $1,800,000,000 speedup in state-federal highway authorizations this year.

The Senate stayed in session until shortly before midnight to defeat 47-41 an attempt to knock out the highway bill's anti-billboard provision.

Various other amendments were adopted. The billboard clause now does not bar billboards along the new highway system but would give state cash incentives to regulate them.

Highly placed Democratic tax writers today said Congress is almost certain to cut excise (sales) taxes on automobiles before this session is over.

Congress must act before it adjourns on a tax bill or corporation and excise taxes will drop automatically June 30 under existing law.

The Senate Rackets Committee prepared to hear long-delayed testimony from United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther.

Reuther had been scheduled to appear Feb. 26, but Republican committee members demanded that he testify at the end of the drawn-out hearings on the UAW strike against the Kohler Co. of Wisconsin.

Federal Communications Commissioner Rosel H. Hyde returned to the witness stand of the House subcommittee on legislative oversight for a third day of questioning on the controversial award of Miami TV Channel 40.

Other congressional news: Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Harold S. Vanecko told a House-Senate atomic energy subcommittee this country could avoid "useless cost and waste" by trading atomic weapons information with its allies.

atre stood and cheered for several minutes when "Kwai" was announced as the top picture.

Guinness, who became famous in the United States as a sophisticated comedian, was the only major winner not present for the awards. In London, Guinness said the Oscar had cost him a bottle of red wine he had bet a reporter that he would not win.

DOROTHY DIX

Diaper Derby Ranks as Top Sport Event

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I met through a common interest in sports. For the first two years of our marriage we confined to enjoy fishing, hunting, bowling, swimming, etc. Now we have a baby whom we adore. But I do miss the fun and companionship I had with my husband before our daughter was born. We can afford a baby-sitter only on rare occasions, and it hurts to see my husband go off on a fishing or hunting trip without me. Would it be fair of me to make him stay home, too?

MRS. H. T.

Dear Mrs. H. T.: For everything we get in this world we must pay a price, and the price of motherhood is the sacrifice of former activities. Naturally, you can't leave your baby alone while you go off on a hunting jaunt, so the obvious thing to do is reconcile yourself to hunting bargains in baby clothes instead. You might be cheered by the thought that your child won't be a baby forever and soon you will be able to resume your former activities, taking your child along for added pleasure. Your husband, too, must face up to his new responsibilities. I don't recommend that you make him give up everything, but certainly there are times when you need him more than do his duck-hunting companions. Make a specialty of enjoying sports such as swimming and boating, in which you can include your baby. In time, she can participate, too. With such an athletic family, she should grow up to be an Olympic star.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am very fond of my girl friend's older brother, who has shown a little bit of interest in me. That is, we dated off and on for about six months. Now he has enlisted in the Air Force and will be leaving town. How can I get one more date with him?

JANEY

Dear Janey: Must it be a single date? Get your girl friend's help in arranging a double date, or have a group of friends to your house for a farewell gathering. He may reciprocate with an invitation. Otherwise, no dice. You can't very well ask him for a date!

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've known Bob all through high school and we planned to become engaged after graduation in June. He's the quiet, studious type, rarely shows affection but is most considerate. Then along came Jim. I met him at a friend's party during Christmas vacation. He's a handsome playboy, charming, bewitching and I fell for him — but hard! I broke off with Bob, became engaged to Jim and now realize what a fool I was. How can I get out of this mess?

CINDY

Dear Cindy: When Cupid sets up an impassive the best attack is a direct one. Tell Jim frankly that you were carried away by a silly infatuation and you want out. Better do it quick before he gets the bright idea first. Write Bob, admit your folly, tell him you still love him, and hope for the best.

PONDERING

Dear Pondering: I'd be tempted to send her a very gushy note of thanks — then, blissfully forget her next year. Be sure to send the note on her stationery.

NEGRO MISSIONARIES

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UP)—Eleven American Negro missionaries and their wives flew in here Tuesday for the 40th anniversary celebrations of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

Adams to Attend Unemployment Study

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—State Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams planned to go to Washington today to seek a $1,000,000 grant for unemployment relief in Arkansas and a public works program for the unemployed.

Adams will testify before the House Ways and Means Committee headed by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Kansas. Gov. Orval E. Faubus had been invited to attend, but said he had asked Adams to go in his place. Faubus said, however, he would send a statement.

Adams said he would concentrate on the outright federal grant, which is needed for persons ineligible for basic welfare aid. He said the people's need cash for medical expenses and clothing in addition to surplus commodity foods they are getting.

The $1,000,000 grant would be in addition to approximately $20,000,000 the state receives in federal funds for old age pensions, child welfare and aid to the blind and disabled persons.

GUARD DIES

SAHAYA, Japan (UP)—Police reported today that prison guard Sakae Nagahara and the prisoner to whom he was handcuffed died Monday when the prisoner leaped in front of a speeding freight train, pulling Nagahara with him.

ARSONIST HELD

NEWCASTLE, England (UP)—British Army Sgt. John Longstaff, 32, was being held in jail today on charges he set fire to a barracks and caused $20,000 damage. An army official said Longstaff did it because his commanding officer docked his pay $3.36.

Man 90 Is Father of Twin Girls

By Doc QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — A hardy Scot named David Ramsay, now in his 90th year, announced in Greenlee, Scotland, that his 39-year-old wife had given birth to twin girls, and immediately he set to work to get the inevitable reporter's query as to how he carried his years so lightly.

He is said to have answered that he kept his youthfulness by "eating a plate of porridge every day and working hard."

It is to be presumed that the hard work followed, and was sparked by the daily re-fueling with high-octane porridge. This is a thick and sticky dish that has worked wonders for generations whether taken hot, cold or in the pot nine days old.

Sticks To Ribs

Porridge has the old-fashioned virtue of sticking to one's ribs and, if properly seasoned, sometimes it even tastes good, like a good goo should. It is the stuff of empires. A man who can bring himself to eat porridge can do anything, from slaying dragons to spitting atoms.

It would be interesting to get Ramsay's comment on an earlier news item, out of Chicago, about the food of the future.

According to the report, the hope is to develop a "synthetic nutrient" that would enable space travelers to live in other worlds without eating, drinking or — get this — breathing. Writing in an atomic scientists' bulletin, Dr. James B. Edson, assistant to the Army director of research and development, said "the space medicine people" are striving toward development of the nutrient.

Food Injected

A space man embarking on a pioneering trip would get this stuff injected into his blood stream — presumably in a concentrated form so it would make him run for weeks without re-feeding — and be ready for life on another planet.

That sort of feeding certainly would be a needed existence. Perhaps eventually we'll need some sort of plastic intake valves on strategic veins instead of mouths, teeth, and stomachs.

News Briefs

NEW YORK (UP) — The New York Herald Tribune, commenting editorially on the drafting of Elvis Presley, said today: "He will be committed to the charge of a sergeant who hasn't heard of him, or a sergeant who has. Either way, things could be tough."

QUITMAN, Miss. (UP) — George Jackson, 27, loved his Florio Mads, and married her. But he refused to carry the 27-year-old bride over the threshold of their new home. Mrs. Jackson weighs a little more than 600 pounds.

TOKYO (UP) — Police reported today that in the first four days of Tokyo's "Taxi No Accident Week," accidents involving taxis increased by 50 per cent.

CHICAGO (UP) — Skin diver Jim Thorne will have his hands full at a YMCA underwater wrestling match this weekend. Thorne's opponent — a 500-pound green sea turtle — arrived by air Tuesday.

L. R. Still Probes Private Clubs

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The foreman of the Pulaski County grand jury said Tuesday its law enforcement committee is continuing an investigation of the operation of private clubs.

Otto A. Cook said he heard that some persons thought the jury's investigation was temporary.

"There's nothing temporary about it," he said.

The committee, headed by L.D. Riffe, is investigating "from time to time," Cook said, even the clubs which closed when the jury started its study. The purpose of that, he explained, is to make sure the clubs don't reopen and violate the law again.

Home of the rare Sunapee golden trout is in Lake Sunapee, N. H. A close relative of the Arctic char, this rare fish is said to have survived in the lake since post-glacial times.

Come to think of it, if we're going to have the breath of life injected right into our blood without breathing it in, what need for lungs?

The new porridge of space sounds powerful potent. Maybe we ought to try to mix a little synthetic humility into it also.

Lonesome River

The heavy breathing stopped and rusted bedsprings squeaked. Weber stepped back to one side and called again.

"Put on a light," Weber repeated. "I'm coming in."

There was grumbling inside, but feet slid on the floor and after a moment a match was struck. Weber waited until it was put to a lamp, then shoved open the door.

A man faced him, scowling. He was about 35, tall, heavy and tanned. He hadn't shaved in a week and he had certainly made no pretense of cleaning up the room for more than a month. A cut stood to one side. The man was fully dressed except for boots and hat and apparently slept that way. A kitchen table was heaped with food, dirty utensils and a few odds and ends, including a rather surprisingly clean Frohner Model A shotgun leaning against the wall near the bed.

"This place," said Weber, "looks like a pigpen."

"Oh, yeah?" sneered the man facing Weber. "You don't look so good yourself." His hand reached out casually for the table. Weber raised his foot and knocked the table over against the man.

The squatter scrambled clear of the debris, saw that he could not immediately locate his revolver and whirling, headed for the shotgun.

"Let the gun alone!" snapped Weber.

The man stopped, hesitated, then turned. "You got a crust comin' in here and knockin' my things around?"

"Your things?" Weber snapped. "Well, get together whatever's yours and clear out. This is my house."

The squatter stared at Weber. "Ain't no one lived here in years..."

"I'm Tom Weber. I've been away."

"How do I know you're Tom Weber?" the man demanded. "All I got's your say-so. Ain't no one ever seen Tom Weber. I found this place deserted and fallin' to pieces. I fixed it up."

"Sue me."

The man shook his head. "Just because I'm a squatter, don't mean I ain't got friends."

"Well, I haven't got friends," Weber said, "but this is my property and you're leaving it."

"You're making a mistake! A big mistake. My name happens to be Tate Hopkins."

The man who called himself Tate Hopkins glowered at Weber. "My name don't mean nothing to you? Well, how about Paul Partridge? That mean anything?"

"A gunfighter."

"Just about the best there is. Some think maybe Tom Fargo's the best, but I don't hold with that. I happen to know that Partridge once backed down Fargo."

"You saw him back down Tom Fargo?"

Hopkins hesitated for an instant. "Partridge is on his way here. What do you say to that?"

"I say you're not Paul Partridge," retorted Weber.

Hopkins made an abrupt capitulation. "All right, but don't say I didn't warn you. I'll just get my duds and—"

He turned and moved toward his bed. His too quick surrender, his casualness did not fool Weber. As Hopkins stepped up to the bed and lunged for the shotgun, Weber was springing forward. His fist caught Hopkins on the jaw as the squatter caught up the shotgun and turned.

Hopkins cried out in sudden pain. The shotgun dropped from his hands and the reeled back against the wall.

"I'm going," he mumbled; "soon's I get my boots on, I'm gone."

He stepped wobbly to the side of the bed, sat down and began drawing on his boots. Weber, meanwhile, caught up the double-barreled shotgun, broke it and extracted the shells. He also found Hopkins's revolver and took the cartridges out of it.

He thrust both weapons at the squatter. "You can get the rest of your stuff tomorrow."

Hopkins took the two weapons, stood up and shuffled to the door. There he turned for a parting shot. "You ain't seen the last of me, bub."

Weber followed the man to the door and stood there until Hopkins saddled his mount in the corral and rode off.

Angrily, Weber returned to the kitchen. He gathered up whatever clothing there was of Hopkins's and dumped it in a pile just outside the kitchen door.

At 27, Lily Barker, Alderton had reached the flower of womanhood. Yet something was missing in her beauty, a light in her veiled eyes that Jeff Alderton knew should be there and could never quite kindle.

He was thinking of that so much, perhaps, that he did not remember to get down from the buckboard to help her step up on the hub of the wheel. Lily climbed in beside him.

The animals started off and a slight frown crossed Alderton's smooth forehead. She said, "What's the problem?"

"He gave a slight start. 'What's the problem, why?'"

"Something's bothering you."

"I've got a lot on my mind. Campaigning glad-handing people—"

"You like it, Jeff. You know you do."

He was silent for a moment, then, "It's rustlers."

Two Things in Way of White Sox

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)—The Chicago White Sox feel they can pick up all the marbles this year because of gill-edged pitching, but there are two things that may well keep them from it:

First, New York Yankees; second, a decided lack of power.

No one is more cognizant of the Yankees than White Sox manager Al Lopez. In six years as manager of the Cleveland Indians, he finished second to them five times and beat them out once for the pennant. And in his first season as skipper of the White Sox in 1957, he finished second to the Yankees again.

Lopez agrees that the White Sox are short on hitting. On that one, he subscribes to the axiom of Casey Stengel: "You don't need many runs with the right kind of pitching."

The acquisition of Early Wynn from Cleveland and Ray Moore from Cleveland and Ray Moore club that "right kind of pitching," Lopez claims.

An Extra Day's Rest
"Now I'll be able to give Billy Pierce, Dick Donovan and Jim Wilson an extra day's rest when they need it," he theorized.

Pierce, Donovan, and Wynn will form Lopez' "big three." Back of them as starters are Wilson, and Bob Keegan, who hurled the only no-hitter in the majors last season.

Lopez also will fill Bill Fischer in the starting rotation as the situation demands. That leaves Dixie Howell, Gerald Staley and rookie Don Rudolph for bullpen duty along with Moore. Although Rudolph won eight while losing 20 with Indianapolis and Louisville last season, he has looked so impressive that he is the only newcomer on the staff who is going to stick.

Except for first base, the White Sox infield is set. It will be spark-plug fielding Luis Aparicio at plug Nellie Fox at second the short and Billy Goodman, obtained from the Red Sox, at third. Earl Torgeson, who did a fine job last season after being acquired from Detroit, veteran Walt Dropo, and rookie Ron Jackson, who hit .310 at Indianapolis last year with 21 homers and 102 runs batted in are in the battle for the first base job.

Smith Hurts Ankle
"The outfield is a question mark because of Al Smith. Smith has an ankle injury and hasn't been in uniform all spring."

"The only outfielder who has won a starting spot is veteran Jim Rivera. Bubba Phillips, who played third last season, has been shifted back to the outfield and could with a regular job until Smith can make it. Because of the uncertain outfield situation, the White Sox purchased Don Mueller from the San Francisco Giants.

In catching, Chicago has one of the best No. 1 men in the league in Sherman Lollar. Earl Battey and Less Moss will be behind Lollar.

MEUX RIDES TRIPLE

BOWIE, Md. (UP) — Clarence Meaux, one of the leading riders at Bowie this year, bonked home three winners Wednesday including overlooked Ambiorum in the feature. Meaux also scored on

National Swimming Championship Starts

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UP)—The 35th annual National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming championships get under way today with host Michigan seeking its eighth team title and second in a row.

The defending champion Wolverines, who rank second only to Ohio State in the number of lane championships won, entered the three-day meet as co-favorites with perennially tough Yale. A half dozen or more records will be in jeopardy in Michigan's new 25-yard pool as nearly 250 top collegiate swimmers and divers from 59 colleges and universities bid for 16 individual titles in addition to the team championship.

RUSSIA TRADES WRITERS

LONDON (UP)—The Soviet Union is planning an exchange program for journalists. A Radio Moscow said Tuesday Soviet journalists will visit India, Indonesia, Britain, France and countries in South America and the Middle East this year on a reciprocal basis.

Federal District Judge Harry J. Lemley sentenced Beam to the penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to two counts of interstate transportation of a stolen car.

He took Cobb's car from a private church parking lot last Christmas season. It was recovered at East St. Louis, Ill.

Gets Three Years for Car Theft

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—John Eugene Beam, 23, of Mount Ida, was sentenced Tuesday to three years in prison because he stole a car—owned by United States attorney Osro Cobb.

Federal District Judge Harry J. Lemley sentenced Beam to the penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to two counts of interstate transportation of a stolen car.

He took Cobb's car from a private church parking lot last Christmas season. It was recovered at East St. Louis, Ill.

anything to do with the domestic problems of Willie Davis, Negro, of Marianna. Probation officers told the judge Davis has three wives and families.

"Let state authorities handle that. He is here on a liquor charge," the judge said.

Then he put Davis on probation for three years on a liquor violation.

WIRE SAGS, SHOCKS
PASCAGOULA, Miss. (UP) — Mrs. Kay Sauters, 18, and her child were knocked to the ground by an electric shock from the doorway of their metal trailer home. Neither was hurt seriously when a wire carrying current sagged into a puddle.

BJORLING IN HOSPITAL

TELEPHONE TALK
By Vance Smiley, Wire Chief, Hope, Ark.

FORTY TWO MORE
Since Jan. 23rd this year we have installed forty-two new rural telephones in the Hope exchange area. The majority of these have been on Highway 29 north toward Blewins and Highway 29 south toward Lewisville. The distance between these new groups of phones is approximately twenty miles. Up until a few months ago there were very few calls that could be placed in a local exchange a distance of twenty miles without a toll charge, but not so today.

Our latest rural project will extend south and west of Springhill to serve another thirty subscribers. We are well along with this work and expect to have the majority of them installed by the last of this month.

Believe me, your telephone dollar buys more today than ever before.

TRAINING FOR THE OLYMPICS?
A friend of ours insisted she wasn't training for the 100-yard dash but many times a day she would go through this routine: The phone rings and she's off. Through the house on a chase to pick up the telephone before the caller hangs up.

One day she said to herself, "If I have electrical outlets where I need them for convenience. Why not have telephones where I need them?"

So she stopped her mad dashes by having phones installed where she needed them, in areas where she works, relaxes, sleeps.

And she chose several of her convenient phones in our new decorator colors. Now she has modern telephone service. And she doesn't miss the running a bit.

Next time the phone rings, why don't you reach, not run? Just call the telephone business office today.

EASTER SUNDAY
Easter Sunday, April 6, will find the children searching for Easter eggs, everyone going to church dressed in their Easter finery and then the family gathering for Easter dinner.

And you can make this day even more memorable by phoning members of your family who won't be able to join the gathering.

They'll enjoy hearing from you and they'll thank you for remembering. Costs so little, too. The unusual low Sunday rates will be in effect.

This year, why not wish your far-away friends and family a "Happy Easter" by telephone.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.
